Dear Sir,

2022/2023 Nuclear Science and Technology Education Competition for Students and Secondary Teachers

The International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) has informed on 2022/2023 Nuclear Science and Technology Education Competition for university students.

This competition is open to university students from Asia Pacific Region and it aims to promote creative thinking. Students have to present a 5-page written proposal to a potential partner and/or donor of their choice to attract participation in one of the strategic IAEA initiatives of ZODIAC, Rays of hope and NUTEC plastic. Submissions should be made latest by 21 October 2022 via the web link. In addition, winners are invited to the 2023 NST Education Study Tour.

Further details about the competition, including details of participation for each of the categories as well as details on the relevant timeline and the selection process, please go through the web link of <https://aeb.gov.lk/news-and-events/2022-2023-nuclear-science-and-technology-education-competition-for-students-and-secondary-teachers/>

It would be appreciated if you could disseminate information on the above competition among post-secondary students.

Thanking you.
Yours faithfully,

T.M.R. Tennakoon,
Director General
